

Make time.

You can mark time, tell time, waste time, save time. But when you really need time to think in an emergency, you may not have enough. That's why CSEPP is running ads on television and radio, and in the newspapers—to help you plan ahead. If there was a chemical accident at the Umatilla Chemical Depot, you might not have time to think about what to do. So think about it now. Making time today may save you time in an emergency tomorrow.
